Staff training programmes will include, as appropriate, the following:-

3.1 The causes of violence and aggressive behaviour.

3.2 The policy and procedures for dealing with violence.

5. Panic Alarms

Reception areas are fitted with panic alarms which are positioned so that staff can easily reach them.

Reception areas rooms must not have any loose objects which could be used as weapons.

6. Dealing With and Reporting Incidents of Assault/Violence

Any incident must be reported promptly to the line manager or any other senior officer on site who will proceed utilising available staff to: -

6.1 Ensure that the assailant has been calmed down, left the site/building or has been restrained when safe to do so.

6.2 Arrange emergency medical assistance where appropriate.

6.3 Arrange for the area to be cordoned off if necessary.

6.4 The Line Manager or Senior Officer will also:- complete the Violent Incident Towards Staff Report Form with the victim's assistance. The views and the wishes of the member of the staff must be taken into account before the line manager considers making a report to the Police, the advantages of this course of action should be pointed out to the member of staff i.e. claims to the Criminal Injuries Compensation Agency require a crime number in order to proceed.

6.5 Ensure that all logged incidents and incident/accident report forms which relate to verbal abuse, violent incidents, theft and other incidents which may lead to violence and aggression are sent to The Trust central team for logging with the Trust's H&S Advisers and Insurance, if applicable, and an academy copy retained. The Police Community Safety Liaison Officer must be informed if there is a pattern of violent incidents related to employment.

6.6 Arrangements for a member of staff to be accompanied or transported to and from work to avoid subsequent attacks if required.

Note: It is not expected that such arrangements would be for any period in excess of 10 working days. After this period line managers should evaluate the situation in discussion with the victim and the Police

6.7 If it is known that a particular client or member of the public is violent or aggressive give consideration to a member of staff who may have to deal with such a person to have a chaperone i.e. another member of staff.

6.8 If members of the public/academy community are persistently violent or aggressive give consideration to informing those persons, access will be denied until contact can be conducted amicably.

7. General Advice

Staff are advised that when dealing with aggressive situations attempts should be made to have other members of staff close at hand if assistance is required. Staff should conduct themselves in a firm, fair, even handed, considerate and helpful manner. The adoption of such an attitude may reduce the risk of violence. In an effort to minimise the risk of violence, staff should bear in mind the following principles: -

8.1 Staff should try to offer an angry person a range of options from which to choose, in doing so making it more difficult for the aggressor to sustain the anger.

8.2 Staff should not show aggressive behaviour to the aggressor, this is how anger can escalate into violence.

8.3 Staff must ask themselves if they are the person with the authority to deal with/answer this particular situation/problem. However if the situation/problem can be resolved quickly the person's anger may subside.

8.4 If staff are being subjected to verbal abuse they should calmly and politely withdraw where possible from the situation, informing the abuser that they are doing so.

8.5 Staff must ensure their own safety by abandoning or foregoing any attempt to restrain the aggressor if they believe themselves to be at risk. If the incident involves fighting between members of the public, first ensure that the Police are called, do not get physically involved unless you feel that it falls within this Policy Statement and you are confident that you can handle the situation.

8.6 Staff should only touch an angry person when having to resort to self defence/physical restraint, which must only be used, as a last resort in situations where other considerations have failed or are inappropriate.

8.7 Staff safety and wellbeing are of paramount importance and accordingly, staff should be clear that, if they are confronted by someone in a threatening demanding manner for The Trust's monies or property, and they fear that they are physically threatened or otherwise feel in danger, then they should hand it over to the assailant and not compromise their own safety.

8.8 It is important that staff provide a signed and dated comprehensive report which details the behaviour of the aggressor before, during and after any self defence/restraint. The report should note how the aggressor was restrained, e.g. where held and for how long. It is also important that any staff or others who assisted in the restraint, or who witnessed it should also provide a comprehensive written report signed and dated. The details must be recorded as soon after the incident as possible.

Preventative Measures

9.2 When dealing with the parents/ academy community members remember to be :-

Friendly - Smile, show confidence, make frequent eye contact where appropriate. Your pleasant attitude can make a difference.

Accurate - Give reliable information. Admit any uncertainties or delays when they exist. Never hesitate to apologise if you have made a mistake.

Consistent - Uniform treatment of all as people are less likely to be abusive or violent when treated fairly.
